THE CURRENT

April 2023

The USDA, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Conservation Service has this document: nrcs142p2_020420.pdf and it shows a ton of information on the Pecatonica River watershed in Wisconsin. The Pec drains over 1.2 million acres, begins in southwest Iowa County, WI and enters the Rock River near Rockton IL. The Wisconsin portion of the Pecatonica touches five counties: Iowa County, Lafayette County, Green County, part of Dane and Rock Counties. In Illinois Stephenson and Winnebago Counties feed the Pecatonica River, with small parts of Jo Davies, Carroll and Ogle Counties contributing to the flow. The west side of this watershed borders on the Driftless area of Wisconsin and Illinois. The stream that flows through Broadhead is the Sugar River and that stream joins the Pec near Shirland IL.
